Course Description :

Management and care of clients in an area of special interest to the students is the focus of this clinical course. This experience, continuous over a block of time, can occur in a setting where clients experience stable and predictable or unstable and unpredictable disruptions in health. During this course, it is expected from the students to play an active role through employing knowledge, skills, and attitudes gained from previous courses in working as a member the healthcare team. Students are expected to practice with increasing independence under the supervision of an instructor

General objectives :

Upon completion of this course the nursing student will be able to:

1. Integrate nursing knowledge using evidence based practice as well as knowledge from other disciplines into nursing practice.
2. Promote the delivery of quality nursing care using established legal and ethical standards by: demonstrating integrity, accepting responsibility for decisions, and promoting awareness of nursing's contribution to health care.
3. Demonstrate professional behaviors into nursing practice (respect, communication, responsibility, self awareness, self evaluation, valuing, and caring).
4. Use opportunities for professional development and continuing nursing education to enhance competence in nursing practice.
5. Integrate concepts related to Primary Health Care, primary, secondary and tertiary prevention, in caring for clients in ambiguous, and complex situations by:
 - o Independently coordinating client care using sound clinical judgment, critical thinking and innovation.
 - o Engaging in strategies for social and political action at a beginning level.
 - o Demonstrating flexibility in dealing with diversity and ambiguity in learning and practice settings.
 - o Demonstrating competence in setting priorities, anticipating future needs of clients, and in mobilizing appropriate resources.
 - o Using beginning leadership, management and administrative skills in nursing practice.
6. Demonstrate beginning competence in case management and delegation in nursing practice.
7. Demonstrate competence in ability to interact with and develop collaborative partnerships with clients, community members, nurses and members of other disciplines. Students will interact with multiple clients experiencing complex health care needs.
8. Demonstrate self nursing practice and competence in a variety of skills: communication and informatics, comprehensive assessment (physical, psychological, social, spiritual, family, community), psychomotor, teaching, and use of technology.
